AUTO CRASH KILLS TWO

Two people were killed and a third injured in a head-on collision on the Bow City road near Brooks on Monday evening.

Dead are David K. Douglas, 75, of Brooks and Mrs. Charles Hobson, 66, of Edmonton. Charles Hobson is in the Brooks Hospital suffering from a broken ankle, cuts, bruises and shock.

It is believed that a truck on the road created so much dust that the two drivers did not see each other and collided in the middle of the road.

Mr. Douglas was well known in the E.I.D. as he was watermaster at Gem from 1919 to 1935 and has resided at Brooks since that time. He is survived by his wife, four sons and four daughters. One of his sons, John Douglas, farms in the Gem district.

INFANT CHRISTENED AT ST. MARY'S

A very pleasing and fitting ceremony took place at St. Mary's Anglican Church on Easter Sunday morning when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bacon of Bassano was baptized. The Godparents were Mrs. Shepherd, aunt, of Crossfield and her husband, and Mrs. Minnis, aunt, of Ireland (by proxy).

The baby was given the names of Sarah Florence and was later presented with a silver spoon, suitably engraved, by the members of the Ladies Guild. The Rector, Rev. G.B. Hotchkis, conducted the service, after which the child was carried to the altar, "dedicated to God" and returned to her parents. The good wishes of us all go out to this bonny baby girl.

AMATEUR SHOW A SUCCESS

The Bassano Home and School Amateur Show, held in the Bassano Hall on Friday, April 13th, was a decided success, both from a financial and entertainment point of view. The hall was filled to capacity with an enthusiastic audience, who loudly proclaimed their approval of many of the performer's efforts.

The winners of the various classes were: Singing - Alice and Piete Walstra, 1st; Lloyd Kunkel, 2nd; Frieda Duck, 3rd.

Instrumental - 1st, Betty Kunkel; 2nd, Wendy Simpson; 3rd, Richard Seeley.

Entertainment - 1st, Swedish Dance by Mrs. Toole's Dancing Class; 2nd, Indian Dance by Mrs. Toole's Dancing Class; 3rd, Kathy Rust.

A net profit of $114.15 was realized.

HOME AND SCHOOL MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Bassano Home and School Association was held in the Bassano school on Monday night. Only a few of the members attended and very little business was transacted.

Mrs. Maude Knight was appointed to go to Edmonton on May 9, 10, 11 as our delegate to the Federated Home and School Convention.

It was decided to drop the arrangements to purchase vitamin pills for distribution to the school children.

Mrs. Toole, the Entertainment Convenor, then entertained the members with dancing numbers performed by members of her dance classes, which were enjoyed by all present.

ROSEMARY NEWS

A baby girl was born to Harold and Kay Oler on April 11th. She will be named Linda Jean.

Mrs. Pete Janzen was the victim of a spinal tumor, causing her to be paralyzed. It is not known if she will be able to walk again. Our deepest sympathy goes out to her and her family.

Weekend visitors at the home of Allen Oler were his daughter, Reta, Jerry Clark and Mrs. Anne Nelson.

Mr. Larry Kunkel returned to visit his folks over the weekend.

GEM NEWS

The Gem high school choir, Virginia Marquess, George Wiens and Betty Goddert took part in the Medicine Hat music festival.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Scheibner and family motored to Sedgewick, where they will visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Penner are the owners of a T.V. set.

Relatives from Makepeace were Sunday visitors at the H. Horyford home.

Frances Marquess and George Wiens attended the Calgary music festival.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Leggatt and Carol Jorgensen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Jorgensen, are patients in the Brooks Hospital. T. Maquire is in the Bassano Hospital. We wish them all a speedy recovery.

TOWN TOPICS

Mrs. Max Jensen left Calgary by plane on Monday night for Copenhagen, Denmark, where she will visit for several weeks. She expects to arrive in Copenhagen on Wednesday night.

We hear that Mrs. Blanche Little is a patient in the Bassano Hospital. We hope that she will soon recover and be able to return home.

John R. Clark was presented with a desk set at the Home and School amateur show as a token of appreciation for his kind assistance to the Calf Club. He wishes to thank all those who were instrumental in this presentation.

The Brooks Home and School Association plans to hold a panel discussion at Brooks on Thursday, April 26th at 8:30 P.M. The topic of the discussion will be on the proposed changes in the school curriculum. This may prove interesting to members of the Bassano Home and School Association too.

The next meeting of the Bassano Home and School Association will be held in the school on Monday, May 21st. Coffee will be served.

Another down town store is renovating the front of the building. The Pioneer Meat Market looks all dressed up with a new store front. This has also enlarged the interior of the store.

The Town employees have been keeping a 24 hour vigil at the pumping station, which has been short of water due to the low level of the river.

Official opening Saskatoon school for retarded, April 18

The John Dolan School for severely retarded children in Saskatoon, the dream of a Saskatchewan farmer, will be officially opened by the Honorable W. S. Lloyd, minister of Education, on Wednesday, April 18.

This community day school, begun one year ago and drawing upon resources said to be available to any community in Saskatchewan, has grown to three classrooms with an enrolment of 24 children. An additional eight children are awaiting the opening of a fourth classroom.

The school is named after John Dolan, a farmer from Girvin now living in Saskatoon, who was instrumental in starting the Saskatoon branch of the Parents' Council for Severely Retarded Children. His continuing efforts on behalf of these parents and their children enlisted the community support which gave the school its start and obtained a grant of $1,000 from the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Community recognition of John Dolan's service has resulted in his nomination for Saskatoon's "Citizen of the Year" award.

The purpose of the John Dolan School is to provide training for retarded children in the community who are not educable within the ordinary school system. By supporting the school, the sponsoring groups recognize that such children have a right to training within the limits of their abilities. Day-school training can keep these children out of already overcrowded institutions and in a normal home and community environment.

Because it employs only certificated teachers, the school is eligible for and is now financed mainly by grants from the Department of Education and the Public and Separate School Boards of Saskatoon. The East Saskatoon School Unit also contributes a per diem rate for two of its children who live in the city in order to attend the school.

Strictly Fresh

A New York City fashion designer has created a summer wardrobe of burlap. For the enjoyment of sweet-potato-mashers, no doubt.

Pity all the parents of Communist persuasion throughout the world who named their offspring "Stalin." In the light of recent disillusioning statements from the present Kremlin regime, they'll have to change the kids' names to "Mud."

TV will be losing many of its comedy shows during the summer months, but station managers aren't the least bit worried this season. They'll have the political conventions to telecast.

The early bird gets the worm. That's why our late-rising fisherman friend, the fellow across the desk from us, is tying his own flies this year.

Climax Timothy seed available

REGINA. — Seed supplies of Climax Timothy are being distributed to interested seed growers in Saskatchewan, this spring. The seed, which was produced by the Canadian Forage Seeds Project, is approved stock and is eligible for registered production.

Climax is a superior variety adapted to eastern Canadian conditions and was developed by the Canada Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Although not recommended for hay or pasture use in Saskatchewan, except under special conditions, production of seed is feasible in the better moisture districts of the province, particularly the northeast.

It is expected there will be a good demand for Climax seed in eastern Canada and the United States, assuring Saskatchewan growers of a reasonably good market.

Farmers in better moisture areas of Saskatchewan who wish to go into seed production of Climax, may get further information about the distribution of seed stocks by writing to R. E. McKenzie, director of the Plant Industry Branch, Department of Agriculture, Regina.

METAL LANTERN

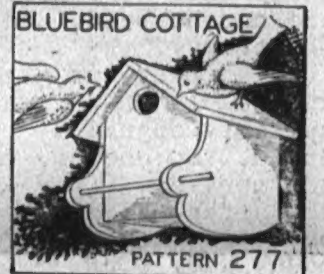

No special skill needed; bluebird cottage

While no special skill is needed to make this handsome post lantern you will need a pair of tin snips and a soldering iron, as well as some household tools, including a pair of pliers. The "do-it-yourself" craftsman will find that he has saved a tidy sum when the cost is compared to that of a ready-made lantern. The practical experience gained in making the first one may lead to others as working with metal is an interesting avocation for the handyman. The price of this pattern is 35c. The Homestead Improvement Packet which includes the lantern pattern, and four other outside improvements will be postpaid for $1.50.

PATTERN 277

This bluebird house is a perennial favorite both with us bird lovers who like to make them and the bluebirds that like to use them. The pattern also gives directions for a popular wren house. My husband and I have made many of these two styles and feel well repaid each spring when the songsters return. I think a great deal depends on where they are hung. Well up under the roof overhang at the gable ends of the house is the favorite place for house wrens. High in a tree standing apart in the orchard seems to be preferred by bluebirds. Pattern 277 with both designs will be mailed for 35c or will be included in the packet of bird house patterns for $1.50 postpaid.

THE OBSERVER

BY HUGH PEARCE

This is the season of the year when one can see clouds of smoke rising from nearly every lot in Town. Everyone is taking advantage of the drying weather to burn off the old grass and weeds and make their premises look more tidy.

There is one thing, though, that everyone should remember. It is a contravention of a By-Law of the Town to set a fire without a permit from the Fire Chief. No one will likely raise the issue so long as the burning is done with due care and attention but, should a fire get out of control and damage a neighbor's property, the consequences would likely prove expensive to the person responsible for the fire.

Fire Chief John Bacon, commenting on this epidemic of fires, states that he is in favor of burning off the old grass and weeds providing that every precaution is used to control the fire. He says that the greatest danger lies in allowing some piece of garbage or other damp material to smoulder away after the rest of the fire has burned out. If a sudden gust of wind should come during the night (or even next day) the smouldering piece might easily burst into flame and start a fire burning out of control. If no one happened to notice the fire in time, it is possible that much damage could be caused. The Fire Chief's advice is, that when you are sure that your fire is out and you are planning to leave the fire zone unguarded, take another look around. BE VERY SURE THAT EVERY SPARK OF YOUR FIRE IS OUT BEFORE YOU LEAVE IT FOR EVEN ONE MINUTE! If you do not make a practice of doing this every time, the time may come when you will wish that you had observed this rule. Fires can be of great assistance in helping to clean up one's property but it can also clean up your home and contents if you are not careful.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

lazy boy

—By I. DE LA TORRE

HIS sneakers raising puffs of dust, Billy raced down the path to the lake. Now he stopped, snatched an overhanging branch and clung to it, gasping for breath. After a backward glance satisfied him that the little white schoolhouse no longer showed through the trees, he jerked up his black trousers and shuffled on.

"School!" he mumbled to himself. "I'm sick of it! And if Ma put on any more crying acts when I talk about quitting, it just ain't going to do her any good. I could fake my age and join the Navy to see the—Nah! I'll just drift around, free like a kite."

Now that his future was so promptly settled, Billy looked around for something to attract his immediate interest. A thin column of smoke rising from the clearing caught his eye.

"Funny time for anybody to have a fire on the beach," he told himself and dashed across. The two men crouching over the fire turned around as Billy approached. Both wore shabby clothes, and their faces looked as if untouched by water or razor for weeks.

"You — you tramps?" Billy blurted.

The two men looked at each other and the one sitting on an overturned lard can answered.

"Yeah, we're bums. What you doin' here? Ain't yuh supposed tuh be in school?"

"Sure. Just taking a vacation today," and Billy grinned, pleased with his wit.

The big man who had just spoken picked up a twig, snapped it, threw it on the fire.

"Hey, Joe," he grunted to his companion, "what yuh say duh kid joins up wid us?" He put his hand on the boy's shoulder.

"You mean go around tramping with you?" Billy broke in.

"Yuh know how tuh ride rails, kid?" Joe inquired.

"Sure—sure I do." Billy wasn't as certain as he sounded, but from what he had seen of "riding" the rods in the movies it looked easy enough.

The first tramp picked up a rusty can and with the aid of a stick propped it in the centre of the crackling twigs. He was still poking it into position as he drawled out, "Hey, Joe. Member Horsey Sindler? Jus' heard other day he lost his leg ridin' onnah Santa Fe. Trackman followed up his blood fer ten miles."

"Awh, that guy couldn't hold onto a kiddy cat, out fallen off. Yeah, got woid Beady Osler got it too las' week. Head crushed 'tween couplers like it was a squashed egg." Here Joe paused and pointed to Billy's feet.

"Mike, wouldjah ast dah kid tuh gimme his shoes? Mine's ain't got nuf sole on 'em—tuh grind up fer chewin' tobacco."

"Mine?" Billy cried. He held one foot forward for them to see. "These are my only school shoes and I—"

"Yeah—yours," Mike snarled. "Yuh ain't going tuh school no more, is yuh?" He started to stand up but Joe motioned him down.

"Awh, lettem have 'em. He'll be wearin' noospapers 'round his feet soon 'nuf. We got 'nother forty below winter of las' year an' no doubt dah remains of muh toes'll get frozen off. Hah, mebbe muh feet'll be little 'nuf tuh wrap intuh dah tabloids," he finished, chuckling to himself.

Billy, kneeling beside the fire, watched the dying flames and fidgeted with the buckle on his belt.

"Yuh scatchin' agin?" Mike grunted at his companion.

"Can't help it, Mike. Jus' thinkin' 'bout dat flop jernt last night. Jeez! Dos bedbugs crawlin' over me innah dark was so big I figured mebbe dey was turtles."

Mike grinned broadly and picked up his stick to poke the can. "Chow's on!" he called to Joe.

Billy leaned over and peered into the can. "What—what is it?" he stammered.

"Stewed pig tails," Mike drawled. "Ain't offen we got such luck as tuh get such good eat'n as that, do we Joe?"

"Yeah, member dat time we couldn't get nuttin but fish heads otta dah garbage palls? Musta been time wasn't much meat 'round."

"Here, kid," Mike was proudly holding up the can. "New members foist. Gobble it down when it's still good'n hot, boy."

"No—no thanks. I—I—" Billy's

Explain 'pink' in chickens

That pink color appearing in well-done roasted chickens and questioned by housewives is the result of the same chemical reaction that causes redness in ham and other cured meats, scientists have discovered.

Any roasting flame, the researchers point out, produces minute amounts of gases which react with hemoglobin remaining in the flesh of even well-bled birds to leave the tinge.

The age of the bird, amount of fat under its skin, heat of the flame and method of roasting determine how much of the flesh turns pink and how deep the color goes, the specialists added.

lips clenched together, and his hands went instinctively over his mouth. He shook his head and fled.

Mike dropped the can, threw back his head and laughed until he sank to the ground exhausted. His companion wiped a laugh-tear away.

"What did you do, Mike?" he panted. "Broil our worms?"

Mike nodded. "The fishing was getting terrible, anyway." He rose wearily off the ground. "Come on, let's look for the canoe and start home. And please remember, dear brother, that it's your turn to take mother to a fish dinner at the Seafood Grotto."

GARDEN NOTES

Frequent change of residence no obstacle to good garden

Even people who have just moved into a brand new house can have a good garden and have it this season too. Even those who rent and move every few years can also have an excellent showing. In these cases, of course, we rely on annual flowers rather than perennials which must get established. And, it is amazing what can be done with annuals exclusively. We can get vines that will cover a porch in a matter of weeks, things like scarlet runner beans, the modern and vastly improved morning glories. Or we can use window boxes filled with trailing nasturtiums, and semi-trailing petunias, marigolds and zinnias.

For big screens to act as hedges there are all sorts of rapid growing bushy annuals like cosmos, african marigolds, spider plants, larkspur, hibiscus, malope and others that are listed in any Canadian seed catalogue. These quick growers reach two to four feet and will take the place of shrubbery and give privacy as well as abundance of bloom. As for the regular beds, there are hundreds of annuals from which to choose.

Where we have just moved in we can combine special annuals with the permanent perennials which will eventually take their place. In amongst the tiny new shrubs, climbers, and trees, we plant liberally with big annuals and we continue to do this for the first few years until the permanent stuff has got established and requires the full room.

We all know the old argument about it being cheaper to buy vegetables than for the urban man to grow them. That is all very well but it overlooks an important point. No matter how handy the store and how fast the transportation, it just isn't possible to buy the sort of freshness that comes only with vegetables grown in one's own garden. A little plot where we have a few feet of lettuce, onions, radish, carrots and perhaps a row of beans, tomatoes, or corn, will repay itself many times over just in freshness alone.

Not a great deal of room will be necessary. To make it go further there are various ways of growing two crops, or practically so, on the same piece of land. Of course in this intensive sort of vegetable gardening, extra fertilizer is essential and the soil must be well worked and rich. In double cropping, we alternate rows of an early kind with a later one, for instance radish and carrots, or lettuce and beans, or peas and corn. We also have less space than normal between the rows, if necessary no more than 12 or 15 inches.

The early stuff, of course, comes on quickly and is used up before the later maturing vegetables require full bloom. Another practice is to follow the harvesting of the first vegetables like the peas, lettuce, spinach, radish, early onions, etc., with another sowing of the same or something else that will be ready say in August or September. Then there are certain crops like squash and pumpkins, that we can plant in the outside rows and we can have staked tomatoes along the end of any vegetable row and cucumbers along the fence.

Almost every one is inclined to plant far too deeply. With tiny seed such as that of lettuce, carrots, cosmos, zinnias, poppies, and alyssum, which are not much larger than the head of a pin or shingle nail, it is not necessary to cover at all. We sow these in the finest soil and merely press in. Then, if possible, we keep the soil dampened until germination starts.

The Sports Clinic

By Lloyd Percival

The energy food of gladiators

Probably the oldest—and best—of all energy foods for athletes is honey. Records show that it was popular even back in the days of ancient Greece, when athletic competition was tremendously important to the very lives of certain competitors.

Frequent mention is made in historical writings of the meals of the gladiators and athletes who competed to the death. Oatmeal cakes and honey seem to have been the most popular food for athletes in training.

The experiences of ancient trainers and athletes which led to the selection of honey as a training food have been repeated down through the years. Now it's a time tested food that is more popular than ever. Observers at the recent Winter Olympics reported that many of the teams and individual athletes used a mixture of tea and honey before, during and after competition as a quick energy jack-up.

We certainly recommend honey to any athlete looking for a fast and effective pick-up. It will help you prepare for all-out effort, or to recover your energy quickly after a hard game or practice session.

What do to about nausea

Many athletes are bothered by nausea if they are forced to exert themselves heavily during games or practices. This is particularly true in track and field, and it appears to be caused by the excess acid in the stomach caused by the muscular activity or undigested food.

This can be prevented by eating lightly and taking nothing but easily digested foods in the pre-effort meal, and by taking a medium dose of sodium bicarbonate 20 minutes before activity. Another very effective treatment is 15 drops of oil of peppermint in half a glass of water. Three or four peppermints after the pre-game meal also help.

Take care of your throwing arm

Many injuries to the throwing arm are caused by carelessness. One of the commonest forms of such carelessness is throwing too hard too soon.

Any player can injure a shoulder or elbow if he tries to throw too hard in the first week or two of his season. Particularly in this part of the season it's vital to warm up well with plenty of easy throwing, and then to confine any throwing that must be done to medium pace, concentrating on form and relaxation.

Build up gradually, and don't throw a heavy load on the arm until it is ready to take it. Remember, a baseball player with a bad arm will get nowhere, and what you do at the beginning of the season will affect your arm for the rest of the schedule—perhaps even for the rest of your career.

TO MY SON

As Thou didst walk the lanes of Galilee,
So, loving Father, walk with him for me;
For since the years have passed and he is grown
I cannot follow; he must walk alone.
Be Thou my feet that I have had to stay,
For Thou canst comrade him on every way,
Be Thou my voice, where sinfull things allure,
Pleading with him to choose those that endure.

Be Thou my hand that would keep his in mine,
And all things else that mothers must resign;
When he was little I could walk and guide,
But now I pray that Thou be at his side.

And, as Thy Blessed Mother folded Thee
So, loving Father, fold my son for me!

TRIEBER - DEANS WEDDING

A double ring ceremony was performed in the Knox Presbyterian Church at 3:30 P.M. April 10th when Ina Lee Deans, daughter of J.E. Deans, was united in marriage to Mr. Clifford Trieber, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Trieber, all of Bassano. Rev. Leon A. Tiede officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white net over nylon. Her full length veil was held in place by a white head dress. She carried a bouquet of deep red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Ann Deans, who wore a pale yellow floor length nylon gown. Her bouquet was of carnations.

Rueben Trieber, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were R.E. Heryford and H. Neufeld. Miss Ethel Moses of Hanna played the wedding music and also accompanied the soloist, Mr. John Ratzlaff.

The reception was held in the Masonic Banquet Room. John Ratzlaff proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling the bride donned a grey tweed suit with pink and white accessories.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Trieber will reside in Bassano.

World Happenings In Pictures

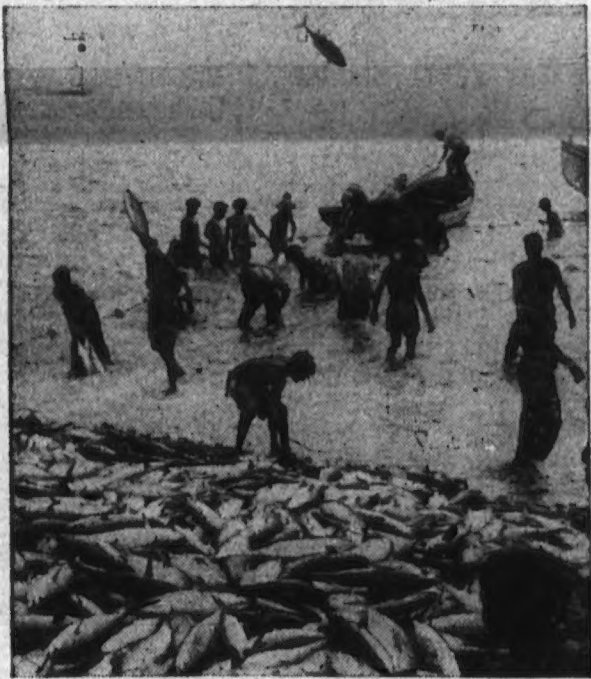

HIDDEN TALENT — An unidentified gladiator contributes the four-armed effect to the picture as Iowa Hawkeye's forward Bill Schoof makes a recovery in a cage battle with the Temple Owls at Evanston, Ill.

WISTFUL VISTA FOR UNIQUE BIRD—Tiny turkey poult on scale, hatched from an unfertilized egg (parthenogenesis), is weighed by Dr. Marlow W. Olsen, co-discoverer of the phenomenon in turkey eggs, at Department of Agriculture's research center, Beltsville, Md. The bird, first of known parthenogenetic origin to live for more than a few hours, has already made poultry history. Dr. Olsen and co-workers hope to grow the poult to maturity so that it can be used as a breeder, to test, against normal breeders, the incidence of the occurrence and whether it is hereditary. Researchers hope it will provide a key to unlock at least part of the mystery surrounding fertility and hatchability of turkey eggs, a serious problem to the turkey industry.

HARVEST TIME—The pay's good while it lasts—about $1,000 an hour. Natives of Pampatar on the Venezuelan island of Margarita net a twice-yearly haul as schools of bonita make their migratory runs past the island. The average catch of about 6,000 fish takes three hours to bring in. Price received for each fish represent about 50 cents in American money.

SHHH! — Zoe, left, and Micol Fontana pore over patterns in Rome, Italy, as they prepare to fashion lace for Margaret Truman's wedding dress. The sisters, whose family name is a hallmark in the fashion world, refuse to divulge details of the design. All that is known is that the street-length gown for the April 21 ceremony will be of lace and tulle in beige. Margaret will marry newsman Clifton Daniel April 21, in Independence, Mo.

GETS THE BIRD

Mailmen of Salt Lake City are telling the story of a postman who knocked at a door to deliver a letter.

The woman inside wouldn't open the door, so he shouted through it, "Got a letter with three cents postage due."

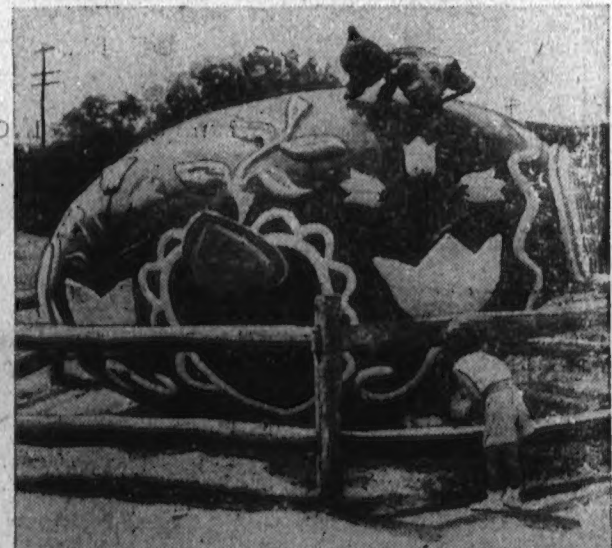

"Bring it back tomorrow," came the muffled reply. "I can't open the door today—it's the canary's day out of the cage."

CHICAGO SCULPTOR Carl Hallsthammar captures the feeling of a man doing well in his favorite sport in this cherry wood study of President Eisenhower playing golf.

FINAL SCENE?—Actress Grace Kelly is the focus of many movie cameras as she makes what may be her final appearance on Hollywood film. Occasion was the recent Oscar awards ceremonies. Rumor has it that she may relinquish her reel crown permanently when she dons the crown of Monaco as Prince Rainier's wife, April 19.

YEAR-ROUND EASTER TREAT—This small boy has solved, to his heart's content, the mystery of where the Easter bunny lives all during the year. It's in this gigantic Easter egg, of course. The glorified rabbit hutch is one of the featured attractions in the "Enchanted Forest", children's amusement park near Baltimore, Md.
